Coastline Honor Library at Newport Beach Campus

Cleaning your house or office? The newly formed Coastline Honor Library in the Student Lounge at the Newport Beach Campus is looking for donations of gently used hard-cover or paperback fiction and nonfiction books (not textbooks) and current magazines. Students and Coastline employees can peruse the shelves to see if there is something that they would like to read, take it home, return it or keep it, and hopefully leave another.

Katie Stubblefield and her students will be managing the library. Please drop off any book or magazine donations to Katie Stubblefield in the Special Programs office at the Newport Beach Campus. Grand opening is planned for mid-February. Contact Katie or Debbie Henry with any questions.

It will not be too long until the student center starts to look more like the Austrian National Library in Vienna.

Congratulations to Lisa Lee on your paper being published in the December Issue of the Journal of Mathematics Education.

Success of Online Mathematics Courses at the Community College Level

Lisa S. Lee, Coastline College, U.S.A.

The purpose of this study was to investigate the factors that contribute to student success in online mathematics courses at community colleges. The non-experimental quantitative design began with descriptive statistics to explore the quantitative evidence and then applied multiple regression analysis to identify the significant predictors. A total of 135 students enrolled in three online math courses at a Southern California community college were invited to complete the Self-Assessment Questionnaire, which was designed based on the seven principles of successful college teaching. The findings show that student success was associated with the following areas: Principle One – the interaction between students and faculty and Principle Three – use of active learning. Mastering online homework has a positive impact on students. Strategies should be developed to encourage interaction between faculty and students and promote active learning environments.

Angela Gomez-Holbrook's Holiday Traditions

Holiday shopping at an Italian Deli and Market has always been part of a family tradition in the Holbrook house. This year was no different; everyone, including aunts, uncles, and cousins, made their way out to Temecula, and lined up at Campini's for some of their favorite items such as meat, cheese, marinated olives served with warm bread, pasta of the day, and salads. For dessert, the kids and adults alike love to choose a variety of cookies, pastries, and candies all with beautiful packaging.

Nominees for Full Time Teacher of the Year and the Part Time Teaching Excellence Award will be due at 5:00 p.m. on March 6, 2019. Watch your email for the application and criteria for these awards.

NEVER TO LATE TO CELEBRATE

Congratulations to Nick Norton for his winning holiday greeting card design for 2018 chosen by Dr Lori Adrian. Nick was taking Photoshop 116A online with Instructor Angela Gomez-Holbrook for Fall 2018. See his final projects at <http://bit.ly/NickNorton>

Where the Buffalo Roam

In an effort to get away over intercession, but still stay in contact with the students in Art 101, my wife and I stayed close to home and hiked across Catalina Island. While we did not trek the entire Trans-Catalina Trail, we did make our way to the isthmus of the Island. This is a great place to relax and take in scenery while still being connected to the larger world, thanks to the great WiFi signal at the Banning House at Two Harbors. Above is a view from our room, which includes the character on the lower right. These beasts wander the island, a memento to old Hollywood. When I see these bovines, I can only imagine them in greater numbers, but I appreciate their presence here, seemingly free to roam.

GET YOUR FLEX ON

Register now for the upcoming Flex Day on Thursday, February 21. Presentation sessions include a general skills training in using cellphones/tablets to take photos and then optimizing the quality of the photos for classes, sites, flyers, and social media. Bring your cell phone and complete a hands-on project. Presented by Angela Gomez-Holbrook from Digital Graphics Applications at Garden Grove Center.

Speaking of FLEX

Strongwoman Laverie Cooper, also known as "Charmion," is pictured below proudly flexing her muscles for a promotional advertisement. Photographer, F. W. Glasier took this image in 1897; he was known for capturing many images of these types of performers at the turn of the century. Charmion's acts were risqué, vaudevillian feats of strength, one of which was captured by Thomas Edison in 1901 while she was suspended from a trapeze.

Coastline's Flex Day will not include performers like Charmion, but we do expect you to be dazzled by feats of intellectualism.

Two Things from FRED

During Winter Break Fred and his wife, Lisa, took a trip up the California coast to visit their daughter in the Bay Area. They stopped at a new brewery in Paso Robles. The husband Chuck Silva and wife co-owners showed up at the same time. Fred picked up two crowlers of Spicy Ginger, a farmhouse ale infused with Thai chilis and fresh ginger. They opened the big cans for all to enjoy on New Year's Eve.

During Week 2 of his Intersession math class, Fred wanted to reinforce prime numbers for the chapter on rational expressions. He posted a discussion prompt asking students to define, in their own words, what a prime number is. Then he posted the following problem to his students; responses were hidden until a response was posted. Everyone with the correct answer who could explain how they got it received credit. You may email Fred with your answer. Good luck!

Prime Choice

The date: 1/11/19 can be written as a single integer, 11119. This prime number has the property that whenever another digit "1" is inserted anywhere, including at the beginning or the end, the new number is also prime! There are 4 primes less than 50 with this property.

What are they?

If you know, stop Fred in the hall, office, or parking lot with the answer.

Come on out to the art gallery on Wednesdays for our lecture series at noon.

ATTENTION! ATTENTION!

The Marketing Department will be conducting a photo shoot for all Coastline Faculty on Flex Day, February 21, 2019, at the Garden Grove Campus in room 158-59. Our staff will be available 10:00 am - 7:00 pm. Our last headshot will be at 6:45 pm.

We encourage all faculty members to stop in between workshops, during the lunch break, or in between meetings, to get their headshot taken. It will only take about 5 minutes of your time!

The footage garnered from these shoots will be for promotion such as:

- Promoting your Coastline College Courses on our new website
- Giving students and prospective students a chance to see what amazing instructors we have here at Coastline
- ...and MORE!

Angela's 10 Tips for Getting a Great Headshot

By Angela Gomez-Holbrook, Instructor, Digital Graphics Applications

A professional headshot is one of the most valuable assets to your personal brand and vital in this digital age. It's important that your clothing and image reflects your personality, credibility, and who you are as a professional in your industry.

- Avoid busy patterns and large lines/stripes.
- Make sure all clothing is ironed and pressed before the shoot.
- A white shirt/blouse/sweater by itself is a bad idea – white draws attention away from the face.
- Consider solid colors - ideally darker than your skin tone.
- Blue/green/turquoise shirts/blouses or accents can help emphasize blue/green/hazel eyes.
- If you are going to wear your glasses, give them a really good cleaning.
- Genuine smile: Think about someone or something that makes you laugh, it'll look much better and more natural.
- WOMEN: Minimal makeup photographs better. Keep it simple and make sure it feels good for you.
- MEN: Your tie color should be in between the tones of your suit and dress shirt.
- Take a deep breath and relax. The photographer wants to take the best picture that they can of you and make YOU happy.
