HONORING OUR TEACHERS

Each year, Coastline has the pleasure of honoring two instructors who are recognized for their commitment to students.

“Teacher of the Year” is a prestigious title reserved for a full-time faculty member, while the “Teaching Excellence Award” is presented to a part-time instructor.

The honorees of the 2013 Teacher of the Year award and the 2013 Teaching Excellence Award are highly praised by their students, fellow faculty members, and the Coastline staff. It is our pleasure to present them with a token of our appreciation for all they do for Coastline students.

TEACHER OF THE YEAR

Ken Leighton is dedicated to student success. Ken began teaching at Coastline Community College as a part-time teacher, and even though part time, he served on many committees in addition to the Academic Senate. He became a full-time teacher in fall of 2009. He is now co-chair of the Humanities Program and has been the Academic Senate Corresponding Secretary for several years. He has chosen to work primarily with students who are struggling to qualify for college-level English classes. Seeing the need of basic skills classes for incarcerated students, he designed three independent-study classes (grammar, vocabulary, and spelling) for these students, whom he teaches every semester in addition to three sections of the English composition class one level below Freshman Composition and Children’s Literature. His supportive and encouraging manner with all students makes him an ideal teacher.

PART-TIME TEACHING EXCELLENCE AWARD

Stephen Whitson is a part-time instructor in Coastline Community College's Accounting Department. Students enjoy his innovation and ability to relate his real world experience to the subject matter. He has a caring and supporting attitude that shines through to all his students. Professor Whitson is a leader in his department of all part-time instructors.

CAP & GOWN

ACADEMIC COLORS

In the 12th and 13th centuries, when universities were under the jurisdiction of the church, students wore habits or cloaks with hoods, which were designed to provide warmth in unheated buildings. The more colorful modern academic costume, worn more for its symbolism than for any practical purpose, originated at Oxford and Cambridge Universities in the 1300's, and has been continuously in use in the U.S. since colonial days.

The mortarboard cap represents no particular degree or school, except that the short, gold tassel is worn only by holders of the doctoral degree. The tassel may be worn on either side of the cap.

The gown itself is usually black for all holders of baccalaureate or higher degrees. Bachelor's and master's degree styles differ little, but doctoral gowns are faced with velvet panels down the front and velvet bars on the bell-shaped sleeves.

Only the hood itself shows, by its length and its colors, the distinctions among degrees, academic majors, and colleges or universities that conferred the degrees. The higher the degree, the longer the hood and the wider the velvet facing that outlines the hood: bachelor's, master's, and doctor's hoods are three feet, three and one-half feet, and four feet long, respectively. In addition, the velvet trim is two, three, or five inches wide (narrowing only around the neck) in the same order of degrees. The color of the velvet facing denotes the academic area in which the degree was awarded.

The colors of the satin lining in the hood are the school colors of the institution where the degree was awarded. Only the doctor's hood includes panels with narrow satin piping.
