PARALEGAL STUDIES PROGRAM REVIEW

Executive Summary

The Program Review Team worked together with faculty and the Advisory Committee utilizing the Guidelines for Approval of Paralegal Education Programs by the American Bar Association Standing Committee on Paralegals and the 2003-04 surveys to develop improved student, faculty, employer and graduate surveys and then used the new surveys in fall 2006 to gather information to evaluate the program.

All but one paralegal class is offered at the Costa Mesa Learning Center. The certificate requires an A.A. degree. Upon completion of the degree requirements and the required paralegal courses, the student is awarded an Associate in Arts Degree and a Certificate of Achievement in Paralegal Studies approved by the American Bar Association. Students possessing a transferable A.A. degree or higher on file at Coastline are eligible for the Certificate of Achievement in Paralegal Studies approved by the American Bar Association upon satisfactory completion of the required paralegal studies courses.

Findings: Enrollment has been steady in the last three years, dipping slightly in fall 2006. During the previous three years, 2003 to 2005, the program averaged 2.02% of the college FTES. In the three years prior to that, 2000 to 2002, the program averaged 1.6% of the college FTES. Course offerings have been consistent, and increased advising has been provided to students to promote program completion in a timely manner. Enrollment stability is due in part to the legislation in California setting educational and attorney supervision requirements to use the title "paralegal." The program continues to offer all of the required classes in the fall and spring. Elective course offerings were reduced in 2002-2003 to maintain class enrollment consistent with college guidelines and continue to be offered in a reduced format. Eight-week elective courses have expanded the legal subjects available, but students continue to express dissatisfaction with limited course offerings. Program advising helps students plan a more successful schedule.

Conclusions: The student survey and the faculty survey indicate a high level of satisfaction. The graduate survey indicates increased computer skill requirements. The employer survey indicates a high level of satisfaction, but the group responding was a small sample size. Discussions will include whether to resend the survey or hold focus groups for additional feedback. Based on enrollment and information gathered to date, the Program Review Team recommends the following three-year goals:

- Continue exposure to career advising and counseling
- Continue faculty development for improving the use of technology
- Research the impact of technology on the practice of law and develop methods of instruction to better prepare students for work
- Create a website for the program and the introduction course
- Expand partnerships for training and pro bono activities for students
- Develop marketing tools to increase student diversity

PARALEGAL STUDIES PROGRAM REVIEW

Program Review Process

The program review team consisted of Professor Margaret Lovig, Department Chair; Dr. Douglas Benoit (fall 2006) and Vince Rodriguez (spring 2007), Dean and Interim Dean, respectively, for Career and Technical Education; Professor Cheryl Stewart, Librarian; Debra Brown and David Fuller, part-time paralegal faculty; and Rose Moreno, Legal Clinic/Medicare Counselor. In fall 2006, surveys were sent to faculty, students and employers. Twenty-one percent (19/ 89) of employers responded, 74% (112/151) of current students responded and all faculty responded. In addition, graduates were surveyed for the two previous years and a summary report was prepared with 69% (49/71) responding. In 2004, all course outlines were updated with a focus on student learning outcomes (SLOs). In fall 2006, the process was started again. Updated SLOs and assessment measures will be presented to the May 2007 Curriculum meeting. The exception is LAW 158 Intellectual Property; that course was substantially revised and approved by the Curriculum Committee in February 2007.

Description

Overview

The program has been a part of the curriculum since Coastline's inception in 1976. The program changed its name to Paralegal Studies in summer 2000 due to the legislative changes in California and national trends away from the title of legal assistant. The program applied for approval by the American Bar Association (ABA) in June 1982. At that time, the program was a certificate program. In 1983, the program was converted to an A.A. Degree program to meet the revised guidelines of the ABA. In August 1985, the program was granted ABA Approval. The program has been reapproved in August of 1990, 1995 and 2000. The current approval expires in August 2007, and in February 2007, Coastline's Application for Reapproval was submitted to the ABA. As of summer 2006, 921 students have completed the graduation requirements for the certificate.

Prior to 1991, classes were conducted at many of the teaching sites available at Coastline. In fall 1991, a full-time faculty position opened. At that time the programs classes were held primarily at the Huntington Beach Center, with few offered at other locations. When the Huntington Beach Center was vacated in 1997, the program was moved to the Costa Mesa Center. Today, with the exception of the Legal Clinic Practicum/Ethics class, the classes are all conducted at Costa Mesa Center. Room 5 has been dedicated to the program and houses a donated legal research library collection, three computers with Internet and electronic legal research access and a printer. Room 2 is also used for paralegal classes and has a small donated legal library collection.

The program's department chair works with the facilitator and staff at the Costa Mesa Center and with the facilitator for the Career and Technical Education programs in planning and scheduling classes and orientations, coordinating student access to computers and arranging for printed materials. The Advisory Committee assists in guiding the program toward meeting its educational goals and in maintaining ABA approval. Minutes of the Advisory Committee meetings are attached to this report. (Note: The November 17, 2006 minutes are still in draft form; they will be reviewed and approved at the next scheduled meeting on May 31, 2007.)

The general objective of the program is to prepare students to be paralegals performing work under the supervision of an attorney. Paralegals work in law offices and other legal environments, and many interact with clients. The program trains students in the skills of investigation, research, legal procedures, written and oral communication and interviewing, as well as educating students in the principles of ethical procedures and practice. Students will be able to prepare the necessary court forms, pleadings, agreements, documents and papers required in the various substantive areas of law. Those knowledge areas, skills and abilities are consistent with the U. S. Department of Labor and O-Net Occupational Information in the Labor Market available on paralegal training and employment. The program is supported in the same fashion as all other Coastline programs. A copy of the program description and the Orientation handout are attached to this report.

The Department Chair is a full-time faculty member and is assigned 4 LHEs for administration of this program and the Dispute Resolution Certificate. The Dispute Resolution Certificate is a very new program and will go through the Program Review cycle separately in 2008-2009. Most part-time faculty have been with us for many years. New part-time faculty are added when necessary to keep elective courses in tune with the job market and changes in the law and to replace part-time faculty who terminate. Paralegal Studies falls under the list of disciplines for which a Master's Degree is not generally expected for California Community College instruction: "Legal Assisting Discipline: Paralegal." The American Bar Association requires that persons teaching in approved programs be experienced paralegals or attorneys with paralegal experience or who work with or supervise paralegals in the workplace.

Orientation sessions are held prior to fall and spring semesters during the time for open enrollment of new students. Students are required to attend an Orientation or make a formal counseling or advising appointment. The Orientation covers registration, bookstore procedures, library, appropriate sequencing of classes, transfer questions, career and degree planning, statutory requirements in California, matriculation, college services, ABA approval requirements, graduation and degree requirements, and other important information. An Orientation handout is prepared and is used for advising, by counselors for appointments, and mailed to prospective students following contact with a prospective student. Students not already possessing an A.A. degree or higher on file at Coastline must complete the A.A. degree requirements at Coastline, and in addition, complete the 27 semester units of paralegal studies with a grade of "C" or higher to be eligible to receive the certificate. In addition, students are required to demonstrate computer proficiency at graduation. This can be accomplished by computer courses, transfer credit, workplace substantiation, Microsoft Certification or by other industry standards. There are limits and restrictions on the transfer of paralegal courses from other programs and courses taken for credit.

The Orientation handout provides students with two course selection guides for full and part-time attendance for the certificate student and for the degree and certificate student. Individual student plans are drafted at advising sessions.

Certificate Requirements

Briefly stated, to receive a certificate the student must have an A.A. degree or higher on file at Coastline or be receiving an A.A. degree from Coastline when the certificate is awarded.

There are 27 required paralegal studies units, of which 21 units are set and 6 units are elective choice. See Overview above and the attached detailed certificate information.

Curriculum Review

The program made changes to the required curriculum in 1995 and again in 2000 increasing the required number of units from 26.0 to 27.0. Prior to the fall 2006 semester faculty met to review curriculum. As a result of that meeting one course was recommended for substantial revision. The course was presented to the Advisory Committee in November 2006 and the recommended revision was supported. In February 2007 LAW 158 Intellectual Property was submitted to the Curriculum Committee for approval changing the course from an eight-week 1.5 unit course to a sixteen-week 3.0 unit course. In addition, faculty reviewed and made suggestions for updating SLOs and assessment methods for all other courses. Those changes are in process and will be presented at the May 2007 Curriculum meeting. At the spring faculty meeting, faculty reviewed the student, faculty and employer surveys.

The students suggested the following courses to be added to the program:

- Real estate
- Environmental law
- Advanced writing, research and analysis
- Immigration law
- Arbitration/mediation
- Worker's compensation
- Medical malpractice
- Business litigation
- Federal law
- Conflict resolution.

The graduates suggested the following courses be added to the program:

- CLA Review/preparation course
- Electronic discovery
- Income tax law
- Real estate law
- Proofreading and grammar
- Environmental law
- Education law
- Juvenile law
- More intensive document preparation. (Note: the graduate survey indicates that document preparation is at 95% as a "frequently required" job duty.)

Faculty felt that many of these topics were already included in other courses or were in narrow areas of the law that are not appropriate for a stand-alone course or for Coastline's Paralegal Studies program. However a greater emphasis could be made in some areas that are suggested, and faculty will discuss this topic again. It was acknowledged that the college has a Real Estate Program and a new Dispute Resolution Certificate that include courses of similar to some of those suggested. Since Coastline has real estate and business law classes, the ABA has not approved courses taught in other disciplines and not specifically developed for paralegals, to be included in an approved program and students may not transfer in similar courses taken at other institutions for paralegal certificate transfer credit.

Students, faculty and employers answered questions on the surveys about important skills and abilities for paralegals. The ones consistently emphasized were:

- Interpersonal skills
- Adaptability
- Analytical problem solving skills
- Time management and prioritization skills
- Computer skills
- Ability to work independently
- Ability to work with others and in a team
- Trial support
- Legal writing skills
- Ability to gather data and investigate facts
- Ability to prepare legal documents
- Listening skills
- Confidentiality

In addition employers identified the following computer programs or skills as important:

- Microsoft Word
- Legal and electronic research
- Microsoft Outlook/Email
- Microsoft Office, including Excel and Power Point

Other computer applications were rated mostly as desirable rather than required.

This information is important in developing curriculum and teaching applications that prepare the student to successfully work in a legal environment.

Students strongly support night classes (93%) offered once each week (79%) and expressed an interest in hybrid classes (combining Internet and classroom instruction) and classes offered during winter intersession. Based on this information, the program will consider 1.5-unit courses that might be appropriate for the intersession. Faculty also strongly support night classes that meet once a week (83%) and classroom instruction over distance learning.

Need

The current need for paralegal education is very high. The job market has improved, and according to the U. S. Department of Labor, Bureau of labor Statistics, Occupational Outlook Handbook, 2006-2007 Edition, "Competition for jobs should continue; experience, formally trained paralegals should have the best opportunities. Employment is projected to grow much faster than average, as employers try to reduce costs by hiring paralegals to perform tasks formerly carried out by lawyers."

Labor Market Information for California reports the mean hourly wage for paralegals is $24.95 and the median hourly wage is $23.90. O-Net Occupational Information places the paralegal in the Top 20 jobs. Entry-level employment remains a challenge. Seeking employment while still a student in the program is encouraged. A high percentage of Coastline students are working in the legal field and seeking to advance their careers by obtaining a paralegal certificate. The program serves degree holders, students and graduates returning for continuing education and displaced workers. The California Business & Professions Code Sections 6450 et seq. outlines the educational requirements to use the title “paralegal” in California. A person earning an ABA Approved Paralegal Certificate meets the statute requirements.

Resources

All but one of the classes are offered at the Costa Mesa Center. The comment section in the student survey did indicate that the facilities are old and in poor condition, hot in the summer due to no air conditioning and the bathrooms are cold. Some of the classes are crowded, and you have to arrive early to get a chair at a table. We are aware that the condition of the buildings is similar to other public facilities in California. We are also aware that the college is searching for a new location under the Facilities Master Plan to remedy the facility issue for the college. Students did indicate a 92% overall satisfaction with the adequacy of the facilities and 97% overall satisfaction in terms of effective response to materials/facilities issues. The quality of the overhead projectors is poor and cannot be clearly viewed from the back of the room. We do not know if the college has a plan for replacement of this equipment. Many instructors do not use the overheads.

[Note: In the faculty survey, some dissatisfaction was raised with the condition of technology and condition of the teaching room. In 2004-05, we used one of the art rooms for a dispute resolution course in both fall and spring. Art rooms do not have white boards, VCR/DVD players and overheads, and often the tables have stains from constant exposure to art class materials. We have made a note of this and will not use a similar room in the future for that program. Portable equipment was provided for use for these classes.]

Partnerships

The Paralegal Studies Program has an active Advisory Committee that meets twice a year.

Advisory Committee Members

Name	Title/Affiliation
Tillie Boitel	Legal Assistant, Freelance, former public sector, graduate
Rose Mary Bordwell	Owner, Bordwell & Associates, Legal Placement Agency
Marty Burbank	Attorney at Law, private practice, legal clinic volunteer panel

Vince Rodriguez	Interim Dean, Career & Technical Education, Coastline
Stephanie Sterling	Paralegal Manager, Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher, paralegal faculty
Cheryl Stewart	Librarian, Coastline

The last meeting of the Advisory Committee was held on November 17, 2006. Minutes for the last two years are attached to this report. Meetings are held every fall and spring semesters. The Advisory Committee is responsible for guiding the program consistent with the needs of the local legal community and for providing advice on library services and about surveys before sending and after responses are reviewed. The committee also provides advice on curriculum development and modifications and faculty requirements, makes recommendations for program improvement and responds to other needs as requested.

The Paralegal Studies Program also works closely with a variety of other organizations in our community. These include:

Orange County Paralegal Association (OCPA)

We receive their newsletter and flyers on the two main workshops each year: Career Day in the spring and Education Day in the fall. We have graduates that are active in the association and many students that are student members each year. Currently a Coastline student is Chair of the Student Section and a Coastline graduate is Secretary and a Member of the Board of Directors of this Association.

Association of Legal Administrators, Orange County Chapter

The Department Chair is a member and past president of this association and has served on one of their education committees for over 12 years and is part of the Past President's Council which meets four times a year. Many of the members of this association hire Coastline students and graduates.

Work Based Learning (formerly co-operative work experience)

One of our attorney faculty members teaches this course. Even though the units do not count toward the Paralegal Certificate, it involves faculty in the employment area and gives employers a chance to become acquainted with the college and this program and helps students to develop strong skills that they can demonstrate in the work place. (The units do apply toward an A.A. degree.)

Costa Mesa Senior Center

Since 1992, we have conducted a free legal counseling service at the Costa Mesa Senior Center on the second and fourth Thursday evenings of each month, year around. This clinic uses volunteer attorneys from the community and paralegal students enrolled in the LAW 390AB Legal Clinic Practicum course for this service. Between semesters the students also volunteer to assist in this program. The clinics are conducted at the Senior Center facilities. On average, four to six clients are counseled at each session. Appointments are arranged by calling the Senior Center.

HICAP (Health Insurance/Medicare Counseling and Advocacy Program)

Services are available at the college center legal clinic by appointment. Instructions on the telephone message inform callers of this service and the sign on the door also indicates that services are available. A new program by the Council on Aging is Seniors Against Investment Fraud (SAIF). This program is designed to inform the public of the dangers of investment fraud and how to protect elder family members. A presentation was made to the current Legal Clinic students.\

Community Service Programs, Inc. (CPS)

This is a mediation partnership available to clients utilizing the Legal Clinic services.

Fair Housing Council of Orange County

The Fair Housing Council of Orange County offers Mediation Training and students can pay for this training or do an internship in lieu of payment. They will also provide speakers to explain all of the services that are available through their organization.

Professional Development

Faculty members in the Paralegal Studies Program participate in a wide range of professional development activities. Thirteen of the fourteen respondents to the faculty survey indicated that they hold membership in professional associations. The majority also participate in the college’s General Faculty (aka All-College) Meeting, discipline-related meetings, and professional conferences.

In which of the following professional development activities have you participated within the past two years? (Mark all that apply.) Respondents: 14

CCC General Faculty Meeting	11	78.57 %
Discipline-related meetings	10	71.43 %
CCC Summer Technology Institute	2	14.29 %
Other technology-related workshops	1	7.14 %
Student learning outcomes workshops/training	6	42.86 %
Other workshops	3	21.43 %
Membership in professional associations	13	92.86 %
Professional conferences	10	71.43 %
Graduate classes/program	1	7.14 %
Other classes	4	28.57 %
Professional training	6	42.86 %
Discipline-related reading	8	57.14 %
Technology-related reading	7	50.00 %
Other	2	14.29 %
Total Responses	84	100 %

In addition to the responses of faculty in the fall 2006 survey outlined above, the Paralegal Studies Program is required by the ABA to provide discipline-specific professional development. The ABA does not recognize the requirements of paralegals and lawyers to maintain their mandatory continuing education or to stay current in their practice field as meeting this requirement. Discipline-specific professional development is done at faculty meetings and documented by attendance and described in the faculty meeting minutes. The program holds a faculty meeting prior to the fall semester to which all paralegal faculty are invited to attend, even if they are not scheduled to teach in the fall semester. In addition, teaching faculty are expected to attend the two meetings each year held at the college. When faculty attend other professional development connected to paralegal studies, they are expected to advise the Department Chair of their participation.

Examples of professional development topics for paralegal teaching faculty that is discipline specific and incorporated into faculty meetings over the last two years are:

August 2005 Student skill levels and the challenges for instruction

September 2005	Review of the Summer Institute offered at Coastline and a discussion on “digital data” that can be a target for evidence; supported by an article by Carole Longendyke, Legal Management , July/August 2005
February 2006	Improving Student Writing—a discussion supported by an article by Christine Lizzitzyn, The Paralegal Educator , Winter 2006
August 2006	Using the Guide to Writing Course-Level Student Learning Outcomes to review and update the SLOs and methods of assessment on all course outlines for courses each faculty member teaches
September 2006	Drafting two or three Paralegal Program Outcomes supported by SLOs attained in the required core courses
February 2007	Review and discussion of responses to the employer, student and faculty program review surveys conducted fall 2006 and consideration of how to use this information for program improvement

Quantitative Elements

Course Data

Over the past seven and a half years, Paralegal Studies has generated an average of 29.2 FTES per semester. FTES for each semester of the past four and a half years have been above 30, and there were only two terms during that same period when average class size dropped below 30 students per class.

Since Spring 2003, class attrition has been below the average for all Coastline credit classes and was at one of its lowest points (11.4%) in Fall 2006.

The program has been successful with well-planned scheduling that has resulted in only one paralegal class cancelled in the last three years. (The fall 2006 cancelled class was part of the Dispute Resolution Certificate.) Since there was a dip in enrollment in the fall, the program needs to verify spring enrollment and watch those figures for the next academic year. This approach to scheduling places a burden on advising since there are no choices, because each course is only offered once. Students who attend Orientation and/or make advising appointments are prepared to deal with this problem. We spend considerable time in Orientation talking about how to plan for this program. In addition, during the first week of classes the Department Chair visits every class to talk about the program, planning issues, and making an advising appointment. Students who make their own choices and pick their own classes without advice can experience problems the next semester.

[Note: Some of the comments on the faculty survey regarding courses that could be delivered online were not clear. The responses were contrary to the recommendations of paralegal faculty studying the survey report. In the next program review report we will separate the Paralegal Studies and Dispute Resolution faculty groups for participation.]

Student Elements

In the course of the past ten years, the Paralegal Studies Program has graduated 309 students.

Unduplicated enrollment for the fall 2006 semester was 151 students.

Using the 71 graduates for the two years (2004-05 and 2005-06), as an example:

- 39% (28) received certificates as BA degree holders.
- 48% (34) received A.A. degrees and certificates from Coastline.
- 13% (9) received certificates as A.A. degree holders from other institutions.

In addition, 11% (8) of those responding to the graduate survey have indicated that they are continuing their education.

Analysis of current students in the program compared to students enrolled in the college and to the 2003 program survey results shows that the percentage of male students in the program has decreased from 20% to 18%. Male students are considerably underrepresented in the program in comparison to overall college enrollment; however, the higher percentage of female students is consistent with paralegal education in the United States.

Gender	Program in 2003	Program in Fall 2006	College in Fall 2005
Male	20%	18%	42%
Female	80%	82%	57%

Program data for Fall 2006 indicates that the percentage of younger students (18-30 years of age) increased from 27% in 2003 to 34% in 2006—a percentage that is consistent with the college's 2005 ratio. Faculty have commented on the increase of younger students.

Program			College in Fall 2005
Age	2003	Fall 2006	Age	%
18-30	27%	34%	Below 30	33%	Mean: 42.8
31-45	44%	44%	30-39	21%	Median: 37.0
46-60	26%	21%	40-59	24%	Mode: 22.0
Over 60	3%	2%	60+	22%

Although a majority of students (60%) in the Paralegal Studies Program in Fall 2006 identified themselves as white, the overall ethnic diversity within the program has increased, with Hispanic/Latino representation increasing from 10% in 2003 to 12% in 2006, Black representations from 1% to 3%, and Vietnamese/Asian representation increasing from 9% to 13%.

Ethnicity	Program in 2003	Program in Fall 2006	College in Fall 2005
Native American	3%	1%	1%
White	68%	60%	41%
Hispanic/Latino	10%	12%	13%
Black	1%	3%	6%
Vietnamese/Asian	9%	13%	21%
Unknown/declined	10%	7%	19%
Other	4%

*Other ethnicities identified by program students: mixed race and Hispanic/white.

Based on survey responses, English remains the primary language for the majority of students (93%). Spanish was identified as their primary language by 5% of survey respondents, and Vietnamese by 1%. Other languages include Mandarin, Tagalog and Hungarian.

The program does not reflect the diversity of the college but is more closely aligned than three years ago. The increase in Asian and Hispanic students is a good indication that outreach and networking has been successful.

In addition to attempting to address the needs of an ethnically-diverse student population, the program works with Special Programs to meet the needs of students with disabilities. Accommodations are made based on individual student need and in keeping with recommendations from Special Programs.

Cost Data

The program has one full-time faculty and between seven and eight part-time faculty teaching in any given semester. Part-time faculty salaries are approximately $27,500 per semester. In addition, support personnel at the Costa Mesa Center and support personnel at the Garden Grove Center, working with the Dean of Career and Technical Education, devote a portion of their time to the paralegal program. A small budget is provided to cover the costs of the Legal Clinic assistant.

Annual dues of $700 are paid to the American Bar Association, and annual dues of $375 are paid to the American Association for Paralegal Education (AAfPE) by the college to cover the costs of the approval process. In fall 2006, a fee of $1500 was paid to the American Bar Association for the Application for Reapproval that was filed in February 2007. The current approval of the program runs through August 2007. The Department Chair was unable to attend national paralegal conferences in the last two years but did attend the two-day AAFPE Conference in San Diego on March 29-31, 2007.

Funds for faculty development and professional growth are available to faculty through the college's Professional Development Institute (PDI), the Academic Senate and VTEA funding. In addition, the college provides for faculty workshops and training institutes for professional development and leadership at no cost. Equipment and instructional supplies are available upon application on an "as needed" basis and from material fees. VTEA funds purchased three new computers for paralegal instruction. They were installed in Room 5 at Costa Mesa Center in February 2007. The Student Advisory Council (SAC) has consistently supported grants for the maintenance of Westlaw online legal research access for program students, college students, the librarian, and for instruction. Material fees from the computer-assisted legal research course supplement these grants. The annual Westlaw access license is currently $3,226 per year.

Minimum funding for most items is available but could be improved by having the college assume the Westlaw access license expense that exceeds available material fees. This would remove dependence on a SAC grant to meet an obligation that is a requirement of the ABA approval. In addition, the PDI funds available for faculty each year are not sufficient to support attendance at both of the Paralegal Educators conferences held each year.

The Department Chair also serves as the Curriculum Committee Co-Chair and has used part of the available PDI funds to attend the AS/CCC Plenary sessions. Some funds have been available from VATEA but often only cover conference registration fees.

(See the Expenditures and Budget summary in the Appendix.)

Program Outcomes

The first draft of program outcomes was developed by faculty attending the fall meeting held September 2006:

1. Meet the minimum standards of the ABA Approval Guidelines for Paralegal Programs and California Business & Professions Code Sections 6450 et seq.;
2. Meet the minimum standard of preparation for entry level employment in a legal environment;
3. Meet the varied demands of the local employment market; and,
4. For transfer students: meet the minimum standard for transfer at the junior level.

Program-level outcomes need to be refined, reviewed by the Advisory Committee at its spring meeting and taken back to the faculty meeting in August prior to the fall semester.

Student Learning Outcomes

As part of the program review process, faculty review outlines every three years for the courses that they teach. In 2003-04 substantial changes were made to learning outcomes and assessment methods. In 2006-07 faculty looked at these outlines and used the Guide to Writing Course-Level SLOs developed by Coastline faculty to make improvements in the learning outcomes and assessment methods. Those changes are being prepared at this time.

In fall 2007, the Department Chair piloted SLO course-level assessment in her Law 122 Computer-Assisted Legal Research class. Students were assessed on three expected learning outcomes, and plans were developed for improving outcomes in future semesters. (Please see the Law 122 SLO assessment results in the appendix.)

When the faculty meet in August 2007, the Department Chair will provide them with the Student Learning Outcomes Assessment Cycle (SLOAC) forms with their learning outcomes inserted and ask faculty to fill in the remainder of the form. At the same time, faculty will discuss the proposed Program Outcomes, decide if they are sufficient or need to be modified, and consider how they can be measured in the core required courses. The proposed program outcomes are listed in the previous section.

Other Student Outcomes

Over the course of the past ten years, the Paralegal Studies Program has graduated an average of 31 students each year. The peak during this ten-year period was in 1997-98 when 41 students graduated. Three of the most recent four years each had 39 graduates.

Paralegal Studies Graduates

There is not an exact measure on transfer, but data indicates that 39% of students held bachelor degrees at graduation. In addition, the summary of the graduate survey for the past two years provides feedback regarding the extent to which course work prepared students for employment. The feedback on paralegal instructors was very high as was feedback on the curriculum for all of the required core courses. Two of the elective courses received a lower rating.

Student Satisfaction

Based on responses to the student survey conducted in fall 2006, students are highly satisfied with the level of instruction, particularly in required courses, with the overall quality of the program, and with their own success in the program. Each of these areas received an overall satisfaction rating of 97% or higher.

Level of Satisfaction - Appropriate level of instruction in required courses

Level of Satisfaction - Appropriate level of instruction in elective courses

Level of Satisfaction - Overall quality of the program

Level of Satisfaction - Your own success in the program

Levels of student satisfaction with the scheduling of classes, the relevancy of classes to employment needs, and the academic standard of instruction did not change substantially between 2003 and 2006. Student satisfaction with the variety of classes, however, jumped from 85% in 2003 to 95% in 2006, and satisfaction with the sequencing of classes went from 91% to 99%.

Student satisfaction with:	2003 Satisfaction	2006 Satisfaction
Variety of classes	85%	95%
Scheduling of classes	94%	92%
Sequence of classes	91%	99%
Relevancy of classes to employment	96%	95%
Academic standard of instruction	96%	96%

In addition, a summary of the graduate survey responses from 2004-2006 is attached as an exhibit.

Coastline's Paralegal Studies classes are scheduled to meet one evening per week, and responses to the student survey indicate evening classes are preferred by 98% of the program's current students. Though survey responses indicate that the preference for classes that meet once a week dropped from 94% in 2003 to 86% in 2006, once a week classes remain, by far, the first choice of most students.

Student scheduling preferences:	2003 Preference	2006 Preference
Evening classes	99%	98%
Classes that meet once a week	94%	86%

Sixty-nine percent of student survey respondents indicated an interested in hybrid classes (combining classroom and Internet instruction), and 24% were very interested and 41% somewhat interested in study skill courses. The latter corresponds to results from the faculty survey in which faculty noted that about 57% of students were lacking in academic preparedness.

Student Comments:

Teachers are excellent in all aspects. Very much appreciate their law office background and experience.

I love the personal relationship that we as students are able to have. I know this definitely has to do with the size of the classes. Having the ability to personally know my instructors always has enriched my learning experience.

Overall, I think that the Paralegal Program is wonderful and I am very happy that I am in the program. I think it was a great career move for me and this type of work suits me well. Debra Brown, Margaret Lovig and Bryce Letterman are great professors and the classes they taught were very instructional. Bryce Letterman taught me how to organize myself for a class, take notes and compile a notebook from his Civil Litigation course and it has helped me in all my other classes.

Conclusions

The program has made progress in developing SLOs and assessment methods but needs to take this to the next level to conduct assessments and analyze and follow up on results. A first step in identifying program outcomes has been made. Now the finalization and measurement methods need to be planned.

Program graduates were asked for important trends facing the paralegal profession. Some of those mentioned are worthy of note for future planning:

Ethical issues and ethical behavior; electronic age of receiving and transmitting information; time management and software; technology and continuing education; requiring multiple skills; testing and regulation; and, the expectation to perform more complex duties.

The graduate survey summary shows increased requirements in computer, writing and research skills. The issue of increased knowledge of computer applications has been pointed out by both the ABA and other paralegal educators. This year we scheduled the Computer Applications for Paralegals course in both the fall and spring semesters and plan on doing the same next year. The course materials are improving and so is access to demo software. Electronic filing of documents is on the horizon and will become mandatory in many courts in the next two to five years. It is not clear if testing and regulation will ever happen in California, but there are statutory guidelines that can be enforced and ethical requirements never stop. Continuing a dialogue with faculty on how we can incorporate these concerns into existing courses will be an added benefit to students.

We need to look into ways that we can provide additional academic preparation suggestions for paralegal students. One option may be promoting the counseling course that provides study skill preparation or offering a Saturday workshop during the first month of classes.

Recommendations

The college should address the issue of funding sources for the Westlaw legal research license, marketing tools for the program and legal clinic, and attendance at paralegal conferences.

Goals

Progress on Prior Goals

Self-Review Goals

1. Improve exposure to career, counseling and tutoring programs.

The counseling/faculty advising Room 3 at Costa Mesa Center has improved access for paralegal students for career advising and counseling. Tutoring is still limited at the college to Math and English at the Le-Jao Center.

2. Develop a program with the Coastal One-Stop Career Center for job search and job preparation skills.

A representative from the One-Stop Center has been able to attend many of the Paralegal Program's Advisory Committee meetings, but the program has not been successful in setting up any job preparation skill programs at the Costa Mesa Center. Students wishing to use the One-Stop Center's services are required to go to one of their locations to obtain these services. The new program that has been started this spring where students can fill out a card and send it in and become linked to the One-Stop Center may prove to be a better answer for paralegal students. We continue to post jobs in the classroom when they are received, review and critique resumes, and meet with students to plan and make other career search suggestions.

3. Coordinate with the ESL Program to transition students into the program.

This process was not pursued in any formal way. The Department Chair does attend ESL programs and presentations and knows the faculty in the ESL program. The goal for this report was changed to "develop marketing tools to increase student diversity" which will assist the ESL Department in discussing paralegal career planning with their students on an ongoing basis.

4. Expand computer lab access at Costa Mesa Center or another location.

With the addition of two more computers in Room 5 at Costa Mesa Center and the increased number of student who have computers at home, this need has diminished. We do have some students that use the Garden Grove Center Information Commons, which is open in the evening, and all paralegal students have access to Room 5 when needed and on Saturday when Weekend College is in session. The replacement of the three computers in Room 5 with new computers in February 2007 has greatly improved quality and speed of access.

5. Expand partnerships for training and pro bono activities for students.

The Paralegal Studies Program has been able to find pro bono activities for students that vary from semester to semester, but we are constantly looking for training opportunities, as many law firms do not participate in internships unless it is part of a formal class. The pro bono activities are not always the same and we usually search for these when a student has a particular request.

6. Faculty development for improving the use of technology tools teaching in the classroom.

The Department Chair attended and presented at the last two Summer Technology Institutes, and one part-time faculty attended the last two and presented on a panel in 2006. In addition, another new part-time faculty member was able to attend the 2006 Summer Technology Institute. All of our part-time faculty have full-time jobs, and it is not always possible for them to attend programs such as these. The majority of our part-time faculty have good computer skills, as they are required in legal environments.

7. Continue to seek bilingual attorneys to donate time to reopen legal counseling at the Oak View Family Center.

We have been unable to locate a bilingual attorney and have abandoned the idea of being able to continue this program. It needs to be conducted when students in the Legal Clinic Class can participate, which limits us to Friday evenings, since Thursdays are already scheduled and students are enrolled in other classes Monday through Wednesday.

Steering Committee Recommendations

1. Continue excellent progress being made on identifying and tracking student learning outcomes by establishing program-level student learning outcomes, developing uniform methods for measuring those outcomes (e.g., perhaps using some embedded assessments), and continued tracking of program graduates.

The first step has been made in identifying some program outcomes but all faculty have not participated and the Advisory Committee has not participated. Once program outcomes are established we can move forward to establish methods to measure these outcomes.

2. In addition to attempting to replace chalkboards with whiteboards, pursue acquisition of one or more notebook computers and projectors that can be used in the classrooms to facilitate computer-based presentations.

Rooms 2 and 5 at the Costa Mesa Center, which are used by all paralegal faculty, now have white boards, new podiums and VCR/DVD players. In addition, Room 5 has three computers, one of which is linked to an overhead projector for computer-based presentations. Portable projectors for laptop use are available in the office by request. This equipment was in Room 5 at the time of the last Program Review report but perhaps that point was not clarified. The use of technology is more dependent on the subject matter of the course.

3. Consider options for expanding the selection of electives, including:
 - a. The possibility of developing hybrid courses, perhaps in tandem with required courses (e.g., half of required course would occur in the classroom for 1.5 hours per week followed by half of the elective course for the next 1.5 hours; the remaining half of each course would be taught online)
 - b. The possibility of developing self-paced independent-study tutorial-style online classes for some electives.

This topic continues to be discussed but at the present time has not matured. Meeting ABA guidelines for distance learning courses is an issue. Self-paced independent-study tutorial-type courses do not meet ABA requirements for a legal specialty course. The program has worked to maintain all courses within the ABA definition of a "legal specialty course."

4. Consider developing a "Coastline Minute" to promote the program.

No action was taken to develop a "Coastline Minute." It is still on the discussion table.

New Three-Year Goals

The program has identified six new three-year goals:

1. Continue exposure to career advising and counseling
2. Continue faculty development for improving the use of technology
3. Research the impact of technology on the practice of law and develop methods of instruction to prepare students for work
4. Create a website for the program and the introduction course
5. Expand partnerships for training and pro bono activities for students
6. Develop marketing tools to increase student diversity

Goals 1, 2 and 3 are ongoing and require a time commitment but probably not any new or additional funding. A target date would be to have assessments made and results in place at the end of the second year following this report: spring 2009

We are not certain if Goal 4 would involve funding. It would involve a time commitment by the Department Chair, certain part-time faculty and assistance from the college. Target date: fall 2008

No additional funding is involved in Goal 5. It is an ongoing process that needs to be a permanent goal for the program and involves all faculty participation. Ongoing; no specific target date

Costs would be involved for Goal 6 in developing marketing tools that could be used to increase student diversity and promote the program in general. One would be a generic brochure and another would be a brochure for the Legal Clinic and the Medicare Counseling programs. The source for those funds would need to be identified. Target date: fall 2008

COASTLINE COMMUNITY COLLEGE
Paralegal Studies - Paralegal Associate Degree

The American Bar Association (ABA) approves Coastline's Paralegal Studies Program. The Paralegal Program prepares personnel for the intermediary position between the legal secretary and the attorney, performing work under the supervision of an attorney. Paralegals work in law offices and other legal and law related environments and many interact with clients. This is not a pre-law program and is not designed to prepare the student to become an attorney.

Students who do not already possess an associate in arts or bachelor degree from a regionally accredited college or university must complete an A.A. degree (60 units) as specified below. These requirements are in compliance with the ABA Guidelines for paralegal programs. Paralegal studies course work taken at other institutions, if approved by the paralegal studies department, can be applied in partial fulfillment of these requirements. Paralegal studies courses taken for other than a letter grade are limited to 9 units within the 27 unit total. 14 units of paralegal course work must be completed at Coastline. (Credit by examination applications require approval by the paralegal department and faculty. Practical assignments and projects in addition to regular course examinations will be required for any course approved for challenge.) Upon completion of this program, students will be awarded an associate in arts degree and a certificate of achievement in paralegal studies approved by the American Bar Association.

Students are required to attend a paralegal orientation or a counseling session and complete the English and Math Placement Testing and Group A General Education requirements prior to entering LAW 105, LAW 118, LAW 120, LAW 390AB and/or any major elective with a "LAW" designation. The remaining general education units are to be completed concurrently with the remaining paralegal courses. Students must achieve a grade point average of 2.0 or higher in each paralegal studies course. Students possessing a transferable associate in arts or bachelor degree from a regionally accredited college or university, with official transcripts on file at Coastline, will be awarded a certificate of achievement approved by the American Bar Association upon completion of the 27 units of required paralegal courses. All students are required to demonstrate computer proficiency (see below).*

PARALEGAL STUDIES PROGRAM

ABA APPROVED, A.A. DEGREE and/or* CERTIFICATE PROGRAM
2007-2008

Margaret Lovig, Department Chair
(714) 546-7600 extension 17319, E-mail: mlovig@coastline.edu

Welcome to the 2007-2008 academic year. Summer classes start Monday, June 11, 2007, fall classes start August 27, 2007 and spring classes start Monday, January 28, 2008. Please call if we can be of assistance in any way or answer questions not addressed in this handout. The majority of the paralegal studies classes are held at:

Coastline's Costa Mesa Learning Center
2990 Mesa Verde Drive East, Costa Mesa, CA 92626 (714) 241-6213

- 1) Parking passes are required and they can be purchased in the office at this location. Program requirements and course descriptions are published in the College Catalog. The College Class Schedule for each semester only describes current class offerings. Attached is a copy of the paralegal program requirements for all students.
- 2) The following starting classes may be taken at any time: LAW100,LAW127,LAW128. Enrolling in more than 6 units requires matriculation or evidence of requirements.
- 3) The sequencing of additional paralegal studies classes will depend on your academic status when entering the program. Students are required to attend a paralegal orientation OR a counseling/advising session. Fall Orientation will be held on Saturday, August 4, 2007 and Spring Orientation will be held on Saturday, December 1, 2007 at 10:00 a.m., Room 5, Costa Mesa Center. Formal Registration is not required to attend an orientation. Notices will appear in the class schedules and posted on the website. Counseling appointments may be scheduled after enrolling at (714) 241-6162. Advising appointments are available in the paralegal studies department (714-546-7600 college extension no. 17319).
- 4) To assist you in planning:

Page 3, a course selection guide for A.A. Degree students utilizing Option I.
Page 4, a selection guide for transfer students taking the Certificate Program.
Attached program and course descriptions for the paralegal studies classes.

Students preparing to transfer to a university under A.A. Degree Transfer Options II and III, can be assisted by scheduling a counseling appointment at (714) 241-6162. ["Students possessing a transferable associate in arts or bachelor degree from a regionally accredited college or university, with official transcripts on file at Coastline, will be eligible to petition for a certificate of achievement upon satisfactory completion of the 27 units of required paralegal courses."]

5) Paralegal program electives are offered on a rotating basis and change from semester to semester (6.0 units are required). Electives may be taken after completion of LAW100, LAW 127 and/or LAW 128, depending on your academic status. For assistance in planning, contact the paralegal studies department directly.

The following are suggested selections by legal practice area:

Litigation, Torts, Contracts		Family Law, Criminal Law, Off. Management		Business Organ., Corporate, Intellectual Prop.		Estate Planning, Probate Admin., Elder Law		General Law, Bankruptcy Law
LAW 110	1.5	LAW 135	1.5	LAW 150	3.0	LAW 142	3.0	LAW 130	1.5

LAW 170	3.0	LAW 170	3.0	LAW 170	3.0	LAW 170	3.0	LAW 170	3.0

6) The legal profession requires competent computer skills, including word processing, data processing, spreadsheet, E-mail management, Internet, online and CD-ROM research, time and billing, as well as specialized legal and calendaring software. Students are required to demonstrate computer proficiency at program completion. Computer skill analysis and assistance in course planning is available by contacting the paralegal studies department directly or the counseling department. Coastline Community College offers a wide variety of computer training courses.

7) Work Based Learning (formerly referred to as Cooperative Work Experience) units may be used as elective credit toward an A.A. Degree, but do not apply toward the 27.0 units of required paralegal courses. For more information call (714) 241-6307.

8) A formal Petition to Graduate (Degree and/or Certificate) is required to be filed during your last semester of classes. See the Important Dates section in the class schedule for time restrictions.

We are here to assist you, please advise us of your questions and concerns. Paralegal classes are offered in the evenings. There are currently no day or Saturday classes.

MINUTES of the ADVISORY COMMITTEE
PARALEGAL STUDIES PROGRAM
COASTLINE COMMUNITY COLLEGE
November 4, 2004

Members present: Tillie Boitel, Debra Brown, Marty Burbank, Ed Decker, Terri Duong, Lori Jenkins, Ron Klein, Bryce Letterman, Margaret Lovig, Linda Mellor, James Moreno, Rose Moreno, Renee Riopelle, Cheryl Stewart, Joe Yadrick

Absent: Debra Brown, Jennifer Lindskoog, Stephanie Sterling, Eileen Sun, Scott Zimmon

The meeting started at 5:10 p.m.

Welcome new member Terri Duong, Mediation Director, Fair Housing Council of Orange County. The committee reviewed and approved the Minutes of June 17, 2004 with a minor correction, on a motion by Bryce Letterman and Joe Yadrick and unanimous vote of the members.

Margaret Lovig briefly covered highlights from the fall AAFPE Educational Conference held in October 2004. A copy of the Program Review Report was passed around for review by the committee and again special recognition of the Debra Brown, Lori Jenkins, Rose Moreno and Joe Yadrick, advisory committee members serving on the report team was noted.

Copies of the Graduate Survey Summaries for 2002-03 and 2003-04 were distributed and reviewed by the committee. It was noted that there is a difference in skills required for the job and salaries reported. The surveys were summarized separately for the purpose of targeting changes. The focus groups that Margaret Lovig participated in also pointed out the need for students to look for jobs before they graduate so they have work experience at graduation. Also new employees need be willing do all tasks necessary on the job. Several employers said that many paralegal graduates with no work experience are not willing to simple work tasks that they feel are beneath them. The program needs to be clear when training students that persons new to the legal employment field need to be willing to work in an entry level capacity in the beginning. A cooperative attitude is very important as well as current computer skills. These points are consistent with the methods of evaluation used by employers for job status and advancement. There is some concern that improvement could be made by employers in the evaluation of paralegals.

A lengthy discussion of mediation training and the relationship between the new course added to the paralegal studies program, LAW 152 Conflict Analysis and Resolution, and a program that could develop mediation and conflict resolution skills at a higher level. Renee Riopelle and Terri Duong informed the committee of the current status of mediation programs and services in Orange County and agreed to work with Margaret Lovig to develop a program for dispute resolution that would be appropriate for persons wishing to have higher level skills in career placement utilizing dispute resolution techniques. It was determined that the first step was to write the curriculum for a mediation course that met the state requirements and build from that point. This would be done before the next advisory committee meeting.

A Career or Job Search workshop was discussed and Ron Klein and Linda Mellor agreed to work with the program to offer a half-day event in the late spring of 2005. The One-Stop conducts workshops of this nature on an ongoing basis at their centers.

LAW 122, Computer Assisted Legal Research, the class using WestLaw passwords, is in progress and starting in the spring 2006 the students will be pay $15 for their passwords for this class. A more detailed report will be made at the next meeting.

The next meeting was scheduled for Thursday, May 5, 2005, at 5:00 p.m. in the President's Conference Room at College Center.

The meeting was adjourned at 6:15 p.m.

Members present: Marty Burbank, Ed Decker, Terri Duong, Margaret Lovig, Pamela Mayhew, James Moreno, Rose Moreno, Joe Yadrick

Absent: Tillie Boitel, Debra Brown, Lori Jenkins, Ron Klein, Bryce Letterman, Renee Ripelle, Stephanie Sterling, Cheryl Stewart

Guest: David Fuller, Attorney practicing in Mediation and Arbitration
Instructor, LAW 152 Conflict Analysis & Resolution course

The meeting started at 5:10 p.m.

Welcome new member Pamela Mayhew, current student in the Legal Clinic Practicum course and spring semester graduate. The committee reviewed and approved the Minutes of November 4, 2004 with a minor correction in wording.

The agenda for this meeting focused on the Dispute Resolution program scheduled to offer its first class in the fall 2005 semester. Copies of the certificate and the course outline from the LAW 175 Mediation course were passed out. The course outline was circulated electronically to all Advisory Committee members prior to submission to the College Curriculum Committee. 72% of the members reviewed the outline and responded noting approval. An overview of the certificate electives was discussed. The LAW 152 Conflict Analysis & Resolution course, which is an elective in the Paralegal Studies Program, was selected to be an elective in the Dispute Resolution Certificate to provide a link for paralegal students wishing to continue on in legal studies. This course covers the more substantive concept of dispute resolution. The Human Services Certificate program is a transfer program to CSU Fullerton and three courses have been selected from that certificate as approved electives. The goal being to reach out to a broader audience at the college. Many of the Human Services courses are offered online. That program has been developed by faculty teaching Human Services at CSU Fullerton. They teach as adjunct instructors in this program for Coastline.

The following target audiences for contact were proposed:

- Law enforcement, Police Agencies, Sheriff
- Health Care
- Human Services in all industries

The following potential press releases were proposed:

- OC Weekly
- Local newspapers
- Fountain Valley City Council

Other ideas were to create a web page with links back and forth between the paralegal certificate program and the human services program.

David Fuller mentioned that the text book for the LAW 152 Conflict Analysis & Resolution course was in its first trial run. The book had portions that he felt were not applicable but overall the book was still the best that has been located for the class. He would modify the course the next time to focus on the portions that were appropriate for paralegal training. The course is designed to give the paralegal students a broad look at the field of alternate dispute and the role of the paralegal in resolving conflicts. It is noted that this is a growing legal field.

The committee decided to connect again in August, prior to the fall semester to discuss marketing of the Mediation course. This would allow time for notification by Chancellor's Office for California Community Colleges in Sacramento, that the courses have been approved.

The agenda item discussing a Career Planning or Job Search Strategy Workshop was moved to a future agenda as representatives from the Orange County One Stop Center were unable to attend.

The tentative meeting date was scheduled for Thursday, August 4, 2005, at 5:00 p.m. in the President's Conference Room at College Center, as fall classes will start August 29.

The meeting was adjourned at 6:20 p.m.

PARALEGAL STUDIES PROGRAM
COASTLINE COMMUNITY COLLEGE
November 17, 2005

Members present: Douglas Benoit, Tillie Boitel, Rose Mary Bordwell, Debra Brown, Marty Burbank, Brian Day, Terri Duong, David Fuller, Ron Klein, Margaret Lovig, Pamela Mayhew, James Moreno, Rose Moreno, Susan Raja, Cheryl Stewart, Joe Yadrick

Members absent: Lori Jenkins, Bryce Letterman, Renee Riopelle, Stephanie Sterling

The meeting started at 5:10 p.m.

Welcome and introductions of new members Rose Mary Bordwell, Bordwell & Associates, a legal placement firm, and Susan Raja, a family law mediator and graduate. Dr. Douglas Benoit was introduced as the new Dean of Career & Technical Programs and it was announced that the Paralegal Studies Program has been returned to the Career & Technical Programs due to the pending retirement of Dr. Ed Decker that will be effective December 31, 2005. Each member introduced themselves and others as they arrived.

The Minutes of the meeting of May 5, 2005 were read and approved as corrected.

The committee discussed the changes in technical skills required for entry level and higher level job placement opportunities. Rose Mary Bordwell emphasized that there are definite changes in the requirements for calendaring software and employers are looking for qualified candidates that can demonstrate their ability, work quickly, and with confidence. In addition, there are increased specific requests for the advanced Microsoft Styles feature. She mention that often applicants refer to their skill level as “little” when asked about a specific computer application. Graduates and students need to be informed of their skill capabilities and present this information to the prospective employer in order to secure a position.

It is recommended that instructors in the program give homework assignments that incorporate the various computer programs available and allow the students to demonstrate their skill and built confidence in skills that would be used in employment situations. The Bordwell & Associates website: www.wedolegal.com has information on job requirements and other relevant information for students to review. Brian Day also suggested that we contact various electronic resources and find out if we can access free demos for students to have. Power Point was also mentioned as it seems more employers use this program for presentations and training.

The committee was informed of the recent Business Computing Advisory Committee meeting that disclosed the need for colleges to be offering instruction in Quick Books as it is in high demand from employers. Brian Day pointed out that Quick Books may not be the best for paralegal students because of the ability to “force” an entry and he recommended that Peachtree is a more competent accounting program if we decided to recommend one to students. At the present time Coastline is not offering instruction in either accounting program.

The development of online classes as a means to enhance computer skills was also discussed. The LAW 122 CALR class where Westlaw is used encourages students to send in their work electronically demonstrating the ability to cut and paste answers into assignments and send them in proper format as an attachment. This class is required and offers an opportunity for us to measure the student’s computer proficiency that is also a requirement for graduation.

Marty Burbank pointed out that steps should be taken to improve the response time to job postings. He has had personal experience with delayed response to his job posting. We discussed the procedure and agreed that steps would be taken to make sure that job postings that come in during the semester would be communicated to students and instructors as soon as possible. Job postings that come in during breaks in instruction will be sent on to paralegal instructors and the One Stop Center by email.

Update on the first Mediation class that is in progress: Due to the start of the new Dispute Resolution Certificate the mediation course was permitted to go forward with 16 students. Preparations are in process to tape the student mediation presentations. Rose Mary Bordwell recommended that we secure from the EEOC in Washington a copy of the free video on Mediation. It encourages people to mediate disputes. Also the new Sexual Harassment Training required of all managers would fit into the mediation skill training model for persons in management positions. There was a discussion as to whether this training was required also for all teachers. It was the opinion of the committee that it probably is and we should investigate this further.

The committee was asked to (1) to report on the computer software applications used in their place of employment and (2) to think of ideas for target markets for the Dispute Resolution Program. This information was to be sent in by email at any time before the next meeting. The committee members were advised that in spring we would be looking at the Employer Survey and Student Survey in preparation for Program Review next year.

The next meeting was scheduled for Thursday, April 20, 2006, at 5:00 p.m. at College Center.

The meeting was adjourned at 6:40 p.m.

April 20, 2006

Members present: Doug Benoit, Rose Mary Bordwell, Debbie Brown, Marty Burbank, Brian Day, David Fuller, Lori Jenkins, Ron Klein, Bryce Letterman, Margaret Lovig, Rose Moreno, Jim Moreno, Susan Raja, Rene Riopelle, Cheryl Stewart

Absent: Tillie Boitel, Terri Duong, Pam Mayhew, Stephanie Sterling

The meeting started at 5:15 p.m.

Welcome of members and introductions were made. The Minutes of the November 17, 2005 meeting were read and approved. Special recognition was given to President Currie in honor of her selection by the American Association for Women in community College for the 2006 Mildred Bulpitt Woman of the Year Award. Congratulations to Rose Moreno for her contribution of HICAP and the programs offered by the Council of Aging. Special notice of the Paralegal Program in the Coastline and the SLO Newsletter.

The program review surveys for Employer, Student and Faculty were distributed. Responses to the request for computer use reports were provided by Lori Jenkins, Pam Mayhew and Debbie Brown. It is clear that the skill level and knowledge level of computer software programs is increasing and we need to find ways to address this in our courses as it applies to legal environments. The Computer Applications class will be scheduled for both fall and spring next year.

Examples of office requirements: MS XP Professional; Word; Excel; Visio (flow charts); PowerPoint; Outlook (email and email management); eCopy Desktop (scanning) Adobe Acrobat (transmitting scanned documents); WordPerfect Lawyer; as well as various forms of specialized software for case management and litigation support.

The meeting concentrated on revisions to the Employer Survey to be used in Program Review. The changes recommended are:

- Use the word attorney in place of lawyer
- Add reference to California Business & Professions Code Section 6450 - 6456.
- As for identification of the number of persons employed in administrative positions
- Use the word criteria in place of requirements
- Simplify the educational requirement list.
- Ask if a background check is conducted..
- Do not specify a year for Microsoft Office software
- Ask about practice management software
- Change intranet to "network research"
- Separate Hot Docs from Legal Solutions
- Add Quick Books/Peachtree to the list
- Add job boards and networking to the recruiting list.
- Add work-based learning/internship to recruiting list
- Add trial support

Change the grading of Coastline graduates from letter grades to outstanding.....
Add a place if the respondent wishes to serve on the Advisory Committee for the program
Change the salary categories: below $2800/$2800-3200/$3300-4000/$4000 and above
Refer to a paralegal "coordinator" not a supervisor.
Remove the "don't know" choices
Benefits:

- add levels of advancement opportunities
- tuition reimbursment
- toll road reimbursement
- Change 401k/defined benefit plan (and remove profit sharing plan)

Add a place at the end where the person responding can learn more about the program at the college. Either a statement or a link to the Paralegal and Dispute Resolution program, or other programs at Coastline.

Adjustments made to the Student Survey were:

- Add a formal counseling session to the orientation section
- Remove references to up date a law library
- Add ability to demonstrate good interpersonal skills
- Add skill in using a computer for word processing
- Add skill in using a computer for practice management software

When forwarded to the Instructional Researcher, request that the surveys also include the most recent changes being made in connection with developing student learning outcomes and assessment, an ongoing process in program review at Coastline.

Members were encouraged to send in additional comments on the surveys at any time. Copies were available for review and follow-up.

The meeting was adjourned at 7:30 p.m.

Members present: Doug Benoit, Rose Mary Bordwell, Debbie Brown, Tillie Boitel, Tona Cornelius, Bill Darke, Brian Day, John De La Cruz, David Fuller, Lori Jenkins, Leanne Hendricks, Ron Klein, Bryce Letterman, Margaret Lovig, Rose Moreno, Susan Raja, Rene Riopelle, Cheryl Stewart

Absent: Marty Burbank, Terri Duong, Pam Mayhew, Jim Moreno, Stephanie Sterling

The meeting started at 5:00 p.m.

Welcome of members and introductions were made. The Minutes of the April 20, 2006 meeting were read and approved. Congratulations to member Jim Moreno who was recently elected to serve on the Board of Trustees for the Coast Community College district. He was unable to attend this meeting, which would have been his last meeting. We will miss him as a member but are very excited to have him as a trustee. Stepping right up to the plate to replace Jim as a new representative of the public is Bill Darke. Bill is retired from GE Company after 30 years and is volunteering with HICAP, the Council on Aging, and is a member of the Annual Seal Beach Charity 5K/10K Run/Walk. His experience includes domestic and international assignments in Operations, Sales & Marketing and Project management as both an individual contributor and leave of over 100 employees. His educational background has been in Business Administration and Financial Management for Non-Profit Organization. He is a southern California native.

Welcome also to two new student members: Leanne Hendricks and John de La Cruz. Leanne and John are both currently enrolled students and are close to graduation. We look forward to their participation on this committee and input from a students' perspective.

Graduate Survey Summary:

A review of the Graduate Survey Summaries of those surveys that had been returned as of November 15. It was noted that many of the statistics remained similar to two years ago. There are still employers who do not require an ABA Approved Certificate and a degree is optional. It was recommended that we continue to encourage paralegal association student membership, as most graduates are not members. It was noted that salaries had increased but benefits remained about the same. Computer skills were required for everyone and the various types of software has increased. Several ideas were expressed for new or additional courses. Trends included more computer experience, good research and writing skills, getting job experience before graduation, and continuing education. These was a discussion of the use of "job" vs. "profession." It is suggested that we use terms indicating a professional career rather than referencing a job. This Summary will be updated when more responses are received and we will revisit it at a future meeting.

A suggestion for a future Graduate Survey: add a question of how many paralegals are in the firm. With the new computer program that the college and district are putting in place, future graduate surveys will probably be sent out electronically.

Program Statistics prepared for Program Review:

A review of the program statistics for the past 7 ½ years was made. Showing consistent enrollment and good attrition rates. The program has done a good job of managing classes for student success. The paralegal department ranks 20 at the college in department credit FTES as of spring 2006. This ranking does not include credit for any general education courses taken by paralegal AA Degree students. The Program Review Surveys of Faculty, Students and Employers will be available in the spring. Copies will be forwarded before the meeting for review.

Review of course revision for Intellectual Property, LAW 158:

An extensive discussion of the revision of the Intellectual Property course from 8 weeks to 16 weeks met with favorable approval by all members. Rose Mary Bordwell pointed out the increasing number of IP firms locating in Orange County and the anticipated growth expected. This change is recent. Tona Cornelius had taken the first 8 week course offered in IP and she agreed that it needed to be a full semester. Attorney Brian Day agreed that this area of the law is increasing. A short discussion on looking at creating a specialty in Intellectual Property. This will be a conversation for a future meeting. At the current time the program has no specific legal specialty options.

It was agreed that a flyer be developed to advertise the culture and diversity class for the spring. It cancelled in the fall with low enrollment. Also take a look at other Dispute Resolution Programs in Orange County to evaluate their structure.

Members were encouraged to send in additional comments on topics discussed at any time. The spring meeting will be scheduled in coordination with the Program Review Report, but middle April or early May was discussed. The ABA Application for Reapproval is due January 15, 2007.

The meeting was adjourned at 7:00 p.m.

A. May be academic or calendar, indicate beginning and ending dates using month and year.

B. Include total of all administrative, staff, and faculty salaries directly related to the program.

C. Monies allocated for internal faculty/staff development and for local, regional, or national paralegal/related conferences. Funds are available through PDI Institute, VATEA, Academic Senate Conference funds, Office of Instruction, Staff Development, and Grants. Applications are presented to the Dean of Instruction and the funds are then arranged from one or more of those sources. In addition, separate funds are available to part-time faculty through the part-time faculty union for attending professional development activities.

D. Dues for memberships in associations related to the paralegal profession. The membership in AAfPE has been exempted from budget cuts due to its unique relationship with paralegal education and ABA approved.

E. For example, backup or people or service contracts. This department serves the whole college. No separate budget exists for Paralegal Studies.

F. Any assessment activities as defined in G 301E and F. (1) Program Review budget covers the cost of program surveys, faculty surveys, employer surveys and program review every three years. (2) Institutional Research Department handles demographics, all college graduate survey reports and enrollment updates. (3) Department of Instruction handles the costs of inclass course surveys for each paralegal class, graduate surveys and follow-up. There are no specific program budgets for these services.

G. Enter amount and what it covers.

Additional Notes:

Instruction Equipment and Supplies: three new computers were purchased from VATEA funds for Paralegal classroom #5 at Costa Mesa Center in fall 2006.

Library Materials & Resources: The above amount is for Westlaw access. It is partially supported by a Student Advisory Council Grant and the rest comes from material fees for CALR classes. Additional library materials as needed would fall under the Library budget. The program uses Whittier Law School Law Library, which is a public law library, for its official legal research site.

Advisory/Faculty Meeting: This amount is only for Advisory Committee meetings, which are held twice each year in the President's Conference Room, and light refreshments are served. Faculty discipline meetings are required twice a year at the college and are set up and funded by the college.

Suggestions

Paralegal Employer 2006

Question: What could Coastline College do to better meet the needs of paralegal employers and of students preparing to enter this field?

Job placement assistance for experienced program graduates. Our firm does not hire entry level paralegals. We are always looking for new sources to find experienced paralegals.

My biggest misconception was that becoming a paralegal would mean a higher level of work - current employer only utilizes the paralegal position as a secretarial/administrative assistant position, and I've heard that from many paralegals - his Executive Assistant does 1/2 the work I do, at a much lower level of responsibility, has no degree or experience, but make more money - I think many employers out there don't take paralegals seriously

With baby boomers getting older the Estate Planning and Probate field is going to be growing dramatically in the next 20 years. We should be offering a strong background in the areas of Wills, Trusts, Estate Tax, and Probate. Currently there is one Estate Planning Class but an advanced class and/or more frequent offering of the basic class should be available. An advanced class would spend more time on Estate Tax and the advanced planning methods used to avoid the Estate Tax. This is even more important in light of the recent mid-term elections as now it is clear that the Estate Tax is here to stay for several more years.

Training in document/data base management software and other technical litigation support is essential.

how about sponsor an Employer Day?

Question: If you indicated "Dissatisfied" or "Very Dissatisfied" to any of the above items, please describe your concerns.

The equipment is of poor quality.

The room was often dirty and very cold. When I arrived, I knew I would need to clean up before students arrived. There were no white boards, computer or working television and VCR equipment. We would need to bring the technology to class. One person in particular was very helpful and able to problem solve to get the needed video equipment for an upcoming assignment.

Delivery Mode: Comments

Paralegal Faculty 2006

Question: If the Paralegal Studies Program were to offer online courses, what courses would you recommend for that method of delivery?

Not sure that a pure online class would work. But, more along the lines of procedural classes, if any.

Research, writing, procedure, law office computing (those courses where classroom inter-action/point-of-view/opinion is less important than focus on rudiments.

civil procedure

Question: If online and classroom instruction were blended in hybrid courses, what courses would you recommend for that delivery method?

Procedural classes where some of the learning can be enhanced with actual hands on application

Same as above, plus: contracts, torts, BK, probate

Courses and General Comments

Paralegal Faculty 2006

Question: Are there any required or elective courses that you believe should be modified or deleted? (Please specify. For a list of courses, please click the "Help" link.)

No

No. The mix looks good as is.

Family Law should be a semester length course.

Family Law should be a semester length course

Question: What additional courses should be developed for the Paralegal Studies Program?

None at this point

I don't know the litany for the Law Office Management class, but a paralegal should be able to help the attorney 'multiply' him/her self (time leverage), and the student should see that the objective of "making the boss more successful, more available, more client-oriented" will result in higher compensation, better client satisfaction, and a feeling that this is a great profession...

Question: Do you have any other comments or recommendations?

Great programenddata

Indicate aspects of your job with which you are Satisfied - enjoy my job very much; I love it - work with clients, attorneys and court staff; great meeting new people and continual learning; friendly comfortable work environment and paper work great; good benefits; attorneys help me in advancing in my career; I get beneficial advice and help from our CLA, Senior Legal Assistant; working with attorneys from entire USA. Merit and bonus based on contribution to the company. Satisfied with intellectual stimulation.

Dissatisfied/Change - private office; billing requirements; secretarial help; workload too much; less administrative work; part-time work not enough to get needed experience; sometimes seems like I am still a legal secretary; would like less paper work; would like to be more involved with trial cases; would like to work out in the field more; dissatisfied with work load.

One staying at present employment as paralegal salaries are too low.

One left the paralegal field just recently to change careers

Interviewing for paralegal positions but have not been hired yet.

Lack self-confidence in researching career options.

I just left a paralegal position when my son was born to stay home.

Attending CSU Long Beach working on bachelor degrees

Entry level positions are difficult without legal experience; competition.

I am looking for a broadcasting job for which paralegal training would be highly useful.

I am not looking at this time, perhaps in the future.

Section 9: What do you believe is the most important trend facing the paralegal profession?

Diversity in areas of law; e-notary and liability; experience depending on knowledge; ethical issues that arise; technology and continuing education; being looked down on as just a legal secretary; electronic filing and discovery; need for multiple skills and education to compete; bachelor degree; use of computer skills, power point presentations, writing and knowledge; experience; testing and regulation; educating attorneys on utilization of paralegals; experience; many getting education after they have the job. South Orange County does not have enough job openings for paralegals. Updating court procedures. Electronic age of receiving and transmitting information, also ethical behavior. What makes a valuable paralegal is effectively using your time to obtain results - time management software and research skills. Ethics and maintaining non-exempt status. Change in work responsibilities - expected to perform more complex duties.

Section 10 - What other information would you like Coastline to consider in evaluating its paralegal studies program?

CLA preparation; very good thus far, nothing to add; now that you are a paralegal is it what you had hoped for? Were your expectations met? Salary prior to graduation?

Obstacles two paralegals on the job with BA degrees and unwilling to share job knowledge; be more intensive with assignment; mentor-ships for new paralegals; good as is; student motivation at school and on the job; I am so lucky to have gone thru the Coastline program; excellent program. Hold an annual workshop and invite attorney guest speaker on new trends in the legal profession. Certification and exam preparation.

Question: If you marked "Dissatisfied" or "Very Dissatisfied" to any of the above items, please explain your concerns.

Availability of the textbooks are fine but the manufacturers of the books needs to utilize the computer disk prior to student using the disc and they dont do what they are suppose to do.

N/A

Facility is a little outdated.

The back door to room # 2 doesn't open.

Many classes are only available in the evening which limits me from taking as many classes as I could if some were offered during the day as well.

rooms definately need to be updated.

I believe that the Paralegal program is a popular and profitable program for the college and should be likewise rewarded with the best of facilities. The summer classes are hell hot and the quality of the air is undecribeable!

Also the seating is rediculously crowded and a fire hazard to say the very least. The design of this here structure was intended for children, and here we are full grown adults crowded in a room which was never intended to seat up to 30 adults, in fact the max. occupancy for children may have not even been as many as 30. At whatever cost, the school should make an effort to better place this busy and outstanding program!

Working as a paralegal for the past two years, I have realized that my "on the job experience" is more invaluable than that gained from sitting in a classroom. The relevancy of some of the stories told by certain instructors is more of a nuisance and waste of time, than one that would be useful to the learning enviroment.. There really isn't a set amount of "banana daiquiries" that entices me any more to sit through endless tedium, not learning anythin useful at all.

I would be able to complete the program more quickly if classes were offered during the daytime. I understand that most of the people in the program work full time but it would be nice if at least a few classes were offered during the day. Those of us with small children could attend while our own kids are in school. Also, quite a few of the students in the paralegal classes are full time students and might be able to take advantage of daytime classes.

The math class I need to take was cancelled because very few people signed up for the class. I still need to take the class.

I wish there were more elective classes available during the fall and spring semesters as well as the possibility of required courses being offered during the summer.

Question: If you marked "Dissatisfied" or "Very Dissatisfied" to any of the above items, please explain your concerns.

there is not enough variety of elective classes each semester and each semester is seems less and less

not enough instructiontime

Some of the classes did not have sufficient desks for all the students. I took 2 classes taught by Barnes (Legal Research and Legal Analysis & Briefing) which were very popular. As a result, if you did not arrive at least 1/2 hour prior to class start time, you got a chair, but no desk. It was difficult to juggle your textbook and notebook on your lap. Perhaps a larger classroom should be used for the more popular classes.

My only concerns have to do with classes offered and the times that they are offered. I realize budget, space, faculty availability, and much more is involved. However, I am used to having much more options to choose from including multiple times, days, locations, and instructors of a class. It is not affecting my ability to graduate at this time, but it may be worth expanding on.

I am dissatisfied with the variety of classes, especially the electives. There should be a wider variety of classes offered, such as environmental law.

Question: Are there other skills or qualities that you think are important for individuals entering the paralegal profession?

ability to multi-task & assign priority.

tact, confidentiality

Ability to work with others.

Networking skills.

none

Ability to work on a team.

Showing confidence to the client.

Time management and critical thinking skills. Being able to breakdown information and see the "bigger picture" is necessary within everyday activity in an office setting. Neither of which was gained from taking these courses.

ONLY SMART PEOPLE CAN ACTUALLY PROVIDE HIGH QUALITY SERVICES.
THERE IS NO ROOM FOR AFFIRMATIVE ACTION IN THIS PROFESSION

Being able to listen effectively.

For student that do not work in or have any knowledge of the legal field nor work in a law firm should strongly ask the instructor for conference calls to keep up with the course class assignments or volunteer with a student in the class that is willing to work in a study group. This has helped me a lot.

time management -- how to prioritize tasks willingness to learn and patience !!! Lots of patience and hard work !

Interest in the legal field.

knowlege of typing

common sense should be a requirement

i absolutely LOVE this campus (the property itself). please don't ever change it. and the relaxed atmosphere of most of the instructors is great. enddata

Teachers are excellent in all aspects. Very much appreciate their law office background and experience.enddata

I think it would be beneficial to the paralegal students to have a hand-on experience/knowledge of how a legal office works/runs if he/she actually went to a law office and observe how the office runs.

The program should request the student to intern at a law office for a day to get this type of experience.

This assignment should be included in the Legal Clinic class. enddata

No, I think the program is really good.enddata

Overall, I think that the Paralegal Program is wonderful and I am very happy that I am in the program. I think it was a great career move for me and this type of work suits me well. Debra Brown, Margaret Lovig and Bryce Letterman are great professors and the classes they taught were very instructional. Bryce Letterman taught me how to organize myself for a class, take notes and compile a notebook from his Civil Litigation course and it has helped me in all my other classes.enddata

I love the personal relationship that we as students are able to have. I know this definitely has to do with the size of the classes. Having the ability to personally know my instructors always has enriched my learning experience. enddata

It would be nice to break a 3 hour class into a twice a week two hour or 1.5 hour class, by the time it's 8:30 everyone is pretty tired and it's more difficult to absorb information. Perhaps a 6-8pm class once a week OR a 1.5 hour class twice a week.enddata

Offer Interlectual Property course in Spring or Fall.enddata

Evaluate an instructors ability to teach prior to having them actually teach a class.enddata great staff of instructors. Very personable and knowledgeable in their area. enddata

Overall the program is terrific! The teachers are very interested in their students and are knowledgeable in the subject matter. I recently found a part time job in a firm and I have already applied a lot of what I learned in class.enddata

Firms use a wide variety of software, less focus on software would be appropriate. More focus on using Westlaw & Lexis would be helpful.enddata

There should be more work with hands on experience drafting discovery and pleadings.enddata

If attorneys instruct the class filled with paralegals already working as paralegals, they must remember that all students are not paralegals and teach the class as if we are all starting out togetherenddata

The program and instructors are excellent!enddata

I love the paralegal program at Coastline. I have recommended it to my friends.enddata

Course Catalog should like the time expected for students to attend legal clinic for Law 390 class. It was not listed when the clinic was held, and it was difficult to earn the hours required for clinic. Would have been better informed if the time for clinic in addition to the class time was printed there (5-7pm each week).enddata

I feel the classes should be more in depth, but I understand that the class needs to meet the needs of the majority of students. enddata

I've enjoyed my stay here. I wish I could take more classes but my health is such that I'm at the end of my lifespan so thank you and good night.enddata

The program should be more balanced and fairer to the person not currently working in the legal field. Instruction is geared more for the person already in the legal field. Work experience credit is available to those already in the legal field, but not to the others who are not.

Legal briefing (Law 118) should not be required as paralegals do not use this skill very often, if at all. Or, it should be offered as an elective, or as an overview course coupled with Law 120..enddata

Program Review 2006-07 Validation Report

Paralegal Studies

1. Has the program adequately responded to the elements identified in the outline for instructional or student services programs (see appropriate checklist)?

Yes No

If no, note which topics were either omitted or not addressed clearly or substantially enough:

2. List the most important things (issues, trends, concerns, etc.) that are apparent from this report:

- A. Increased competition from other public colleges offering American Bar Association (ABA)-approved programs
- B. The growing importance and influence of technology on the paralegal field which will necessitate ongoing professional development for faculty
- C. Job market for paralegals that is expected to remain strong
- D. Growing number of younger students that the program is attracting
- E. Continued strength of the program along with opportunities for growth (e.g., intellectual property)

3. Does the data substantiate the conclusions and recommendations made?

Yes No

If no, note the areas and manner in which data does not match conclusions or recommendations?

4. List any realistic suggestions the Steering Committee may have for the program based on information in the self-study.

- A. Pursue a permanent general fund budget line item for basic costs (e.g., ABA membership, computer resources, etc.) so that the program does not need to depend on Student Advisory Council (SAC) funding each year.
- B. Pursue seed money for marketing items such as website development, a brochure, and one or more Coastline Minutes through enrollment growth and SAC funds.
- C. Improve coordination and marketing by making a presentation to the One-Stop Center case managers about the Paralegal Studies Program.
- D. Investigate pro bono, internship, and/or work-study opportunities for students.

5. List program accomplishments and aspects for which the program should be commended.

- A. The program is to be commended for developing and maintaining such a strong, active professional advisory committee, for working with so many partners to enhance the student experience, and maintaining American Bar Association (ABA) accreditation.
- B. The individual care and attention that students receive from the moment they enroll and the teamwork displayed by faculty members are two reasons so many students successfully complete the program each year.
- C. The consistent and outstanding evaluations from both students and employers indicate that Coastline's program and its faculty are performing an important public service by preparing students for paralegal service.
- D. The Paralegal Studies Program provides an exemplary model for program development, maintenance, growth, and management.

- E. Department Chair Margaret Lovig is to be commended for her outstanding leadership of the Paralegal Studies Program; her ongoing commitment to the program, its faculty, and its students; and for the very comprehensive ABA and Program Review reports she completes every three years. Margaret is a treasure!
