i Social Justice History of MESA

Following the civil rights movement, a group of concerned educators and community activists in the California Bay Area created MESA. Its goal: provide the academic support, resources and career exploration needed to increase the number of minority students graduating from undergraduate engineering programs.

A grassroots effort that began with 25 students at Oakland Technical High School in 1970 has flourished into an award-winning program that serves almost 25,000 middle school, high school, community college and university level students throughout California each year. MESA's long history with industry and its vast network of alumni are key components to success.

Since its inception, MESA has sought to expand access and achievement in the fields of science, technology, engineering, and mathematics. For the full history, visit History of MESA.

Learning 2 Learn - Episode #1

Episode #1: "Failure - Going Easy on Yourself"

I fail. You fail. We all fail. It's a natural part of life and especially of school, where, with so many assignments, the odds are high that at some point you will find yourself disappointed. Instead of fighting against failure, it's important to integrate it into your process, to know that you are only human after all.

Campus Clubs

The Associated Student Government \(ASG\) is the official voice of the student body. ASG provides opportunities to learn about governance, advocacy, leadership, and event planning. There are many ways to get involved with ASG depending on your availability, interests, and career goals! Participation does not require that you have previous experience with student body advocacy. Only that you have a willingness to make a difference, be an advocate for your fellow students, and an interest in doing the best job you possibly can to make Coastline a better place for all who attend. For more information or to apply, visit the ASG webpage or contact Alison Martell, Acting Director, Student Leadership & Engagement.

Campus Clubs provide a range of opportunities for you to develop your leadership skills, connect with staff and faculty, and contribute to student life at Coastline. You can join an existing club or start your own club! Coastline clubs can be 100% online.
