

Cover letter

Greetings john,

Pleasure to apply for this imperative position at your LA location.

Personally, I believe strongly in the importance of societal development in collaboration with the evangelical community in our efforts to uplift our neighborhoods from poverty and institutional oppression. I myself, am a former recipient of social services, and therefore know well the impacts a good case manager can have on the overall result in a consumer's life. I am extremely skilled in the areas of psycho-education; community advocacy; and case management (via referrals to appropriate services and building connections therein).

I have 4 years of experience working directly with marginalized populations (specifically the formerly incarcerated) and have profound knowledge on the cultural and societal impediments that the justice impacted population faces during and post-incarceration. In addition, another aspect that sets me apart is my comfort and preference to also share my story with consumers providing them much needed hope and inspiration. Through personal modeling, attentiveness, and empathy I am perfectly suited to serve the justice impacted population.

I certainly know that I can add value to your agency and serve alongside you to make the world a better, more equitable place for all. The "little guy" needs stalwart advocates- like us- and I would be honored to play a role in your efforts to change lives.

Respectfully, X